DISCUSS JURY SYSTEM

DELEGATES TO VIRGINIA CONVEN-TION CONSIDER CERTAIN CHANGES.

Some Favor Letting the Court Hear and Determine in Certain

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star. RICHMOND, Va. September 10.-At noon President Goode called the convention to order and prayer was offered by the Rev. C. L. Bane. He referred to the President's condition. Seventy-nine members were present. Mr. Richmond of Scott presented memorial from the Clinch Valley Baptists against any appropriations for sectarian schools and another for prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors. Mr. O'Flaherty presented a similar one from the Shenandoah Baptists, and G. K. Anderson three memorials from Alleghany and Highland counties regarding the clerks of courts and also from Covington lodges of Maccabees and Masons as to taxing their property.

The convention then went into the committee of the whole on the bill of rights, with Mr. Turnbull in the chair. Mr. Pettit of Fluvanna moved to strike out the words "But upon a plea of guilty by the accused in person, or without a plea of guilty, with the consent of the accused and of the commonwealth entered of record, the court may hear and determine any criminal case without the intervention He argued strongly against the abolition of a jury in any case. He quoted opinions from many able lawyers, all opposing any change or abolition of trial by jury. The effect of the committee amendment is simply to avoid expense where a prisoner pleads guilty by allowing the court to fix the punishment and avoid a jury. Mr. Pettit made an earnest appeal for he retention of the present jury system. The anticipated speech of John Garland collard of Richmond, on the proposition eliminate the word "Christian" from the ill of rights, brought a large number of ministers to the hall yesterday.

Memorials were presented by a number f members affecting terms of clerks of courts, against sectarian appropriations and to regulate the liquor traffic. The me-SEVENTEENTH YEAR. | morials were referred. The following was presented by Mr. Wysor of Pulaski and referred to the suffrage committee: Resolved, that every male citizen of the United States who shall have been a resident of the state two years and of the city, town or county in which he offers to vote shall be entitled to vote: Provided he shall have paid all taxes assessed against him. Provided further that this provision shall not apply to persons prevented by physical disability from com-plying with this requisition; nor to any person who now has the right to vote, nor to any person fifty years of age at the adoption of this constitution.

The judiciary committee determined to fix the terms of the circuit court judges at eight years, one-half to be chosen each four years by the general assembly. The circuit courts are to hold bi-monthly terms. The legislature is to increase or diminish the number of judges as occa-sion may require and the legislature may Enemies of the Commissioner in Evidence at Cleveland.

Gen. Sickles Will Probably Be Next Commander G. A. R.

VETERANS GATHERING IN

Special From a Staff Correspondent. CLEVELAND, Ohio, September 10 .- The Union veterans in session in this city may be classified into three parties on the question of pension office administration. First to be mentioned are the friends of Commissioner Evans, and they are here in considerable numbers. Next are his critics, also in considerable numbers, and last are those who oppose the commissioner's policy, which, it is claimed, is adverse to the interests of deserving soldiers, but who are against the introduction of resolutions of censure lest the act be construed as an assault upon President McKinley.

The commissioner's friends are very carnest. They point to his annual report, extracts from which are being distributed in typewritten form. To prove that in the year ending June 30 last there was a total of 44,225 names added to the roll of those who deserved claims for original pensions, and the net gain of 4,206 over the previous year's showing. The roll for the year just closed, they say, is "highwater" mark in | Some the history of the bureau, with a total of 997,735 names, all classes of pensions; the next highest number, it is stated, was in 1898, also under Commissioner Evans, when the total was 993,529. Considering these and other figures, given, the commissioner's partisans ask what there is in his record to criticise. They say that were it not for centain pension attorneys, who, are making war ipon the commissioner, there would be no

Those Who Favor Censure. Those who favor a vote of censure are equally with others averse to being put in the attitude of antagonizing the national administration. It did not need the deed of an assassin, they declare, to arouse in the hearts of Grand Army men enthusiastic affection for President McKinley, their comrade. He has always been held in the highest esteem, they affirm-the records of previous encampments bearing witness to it. But they do not approve of Commissioner Evans' policy, and they propose to say so. As an index of one phase of G. A. R. sen-

dissatisfaction with the administration of ieur, the present commander-in-chief, is . "Following precedent, the commander-inchief of the Grand Army of the Republic will make an annual report to the encampment. In all probability that report will have something to say in criticism of the administration of the pension office. There will be no condemnation of the President, nor of his administration of his high office, out if the Grand Army believes it to be necessary to criticise a bureau of the importance of that under consideration, where he vital interests of the old soldiers are concerned, you may be sure there will be nothing left unsaid, in a dignified way, in the expression of its disapprobation or con-demnation of the work of a faithless offitiment the following from Gen. Leo Ras-

General Rassleur's Statement.

Gen. Rassieur read over this statement after it had been written at his dictation for The Star and gave it his approval. He added that he had given a copy of his annual report to the Associated Press and that it would doubtless appear in print at the proper time. He hopes to begin reading he said, within ten minutes after 10 o'clock, the hour for opening the encampment, Thursday morning. Whether justly or not, Gen. Daniel E.

Sickles, a most conspicuous figure of the present gathering, who is much sought after by members of all the delegations, is regarded as the leader in the anti-Evans party. Upon being asked last night for a orief statement of his views on the situation as affecting the commissioner, Gen. Sickles preferred to be excused. "I can say nothing upon that subject for publication but I shall certainly express my views in the committee and in the encampment," he said. The general is a member of the pension committee of the encampment, to which will be referred that portion of the commander-in-chief's address which relates to the pension bureau administration.

The Conservative Position. Col. E. C. Milliken of Maine, present senior vice commander, ranking next to the commander-in-chief, represents the conservative thought of the encampment on the question. In response to a request for a statement of his opinion of the outcome, he said: "I believe the action of the encampment upon that and other matters will be what it believes to be for the best interests of the veteran soldier and sailor of the civil war."

Colonel Milliken expressed regret that he issue had been made so conspicuous. He said no man can speak for the encamp ment, nor state in advance what the body will do upon that or any other question. Major McElroy of Washington gave expression to some very vigorous sentiments concerning the pension office controversy in an interview published in the afternoon papers yesterday. He favors the proposed anti-Evans resolutions.

The major is prominently mentioned as a candidate for the office of senior vice commander. The prediction is made that Mrs. Colista Jones of Vermont will be elected national president of the W. R. C. Corporal Tanner in Demand. Corporal James Tanner of Washington is very much in demand as a campfire orator His name appears six times in the program for as many addresses. The Department of the Potomac is nearly solid for General Sickles for commanderin-chief. The Department of the Potomac has its headquarters in the Hollenden, Room 103. Captain Oldroyd and S. W. Mc-Elderny put on the finishing touches in the way of adornment this morning. Pictures of Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and McKinley grace the wall, and a choice collection of flowers is provided as a surprise to Commander Stone. The train bearing the headquarters officers was so late in arriving that the Old Guard abandoned its purpose acting as escort from the depo Forest City Lodge, Ringhts of the Golden Eagle, of this city, last night expelled Czolgosz, known to the order as Fred C. Nieman, and anathematized his heinous Discussing Candidates for Office. Friends of each of the three known candidates for commander in thief are in every group in the hotels. A friend of General Sickles, who confidently predicted the success of his candidate deprecated the fact that an attempt has been made to bring that an attempt has been made to bring the administration into the contest. He said it had come to his ears that the administration is quoted as favoring Adjutant General Stewart of Pennsylvania, This, he said, he did not believe, but circulation of the rumor, was, in his judgment, prejudicial to harmony. He could not see why the administration should be expected to take sides in a case of this kind. He was confident President McKinley had never expressed a choice, nor had ley had never expressed a choice, nor had any one for him.

A prominent delegate from Illinois and a member of the executive committee said General Stewart would be elected. Asked for his reasons for the belief, he smilingly remarked that a majority of the delegates will vote that way.

The third candidate, Eli Torrence of Minnesota, has friends working for him also, but it remains to be seen whether his strength will be formidable. The belief is that the contest is between the first two named. The District of Columbia members are practically solid for General Sickles. Criticism of Commissioner Evans.

fied in its utterances, and that no radical action will be takes. That the Grand Army would formally make wer on the administration is regarded by members as absurd, and one who is connected with the council of administration went so far as to say he did not believe there would even be critisian of the commissioner of penbe criticism of the commissioner of pen-sions. It is said, however, that resolutions calling for action will be introduced and that particular stress will be laid upon the attitude of Commissioner Evans in what is known as the Jacob Tolle case, which was the basis of "decision 125," made in July, 1901, by Assistant Secretary Campbell of the Interior Department. It is said the commissioner allowed the claims under an order from the department but attached a slip to the papers in ment, but attached a slip to the papers in the case, a copy of which is said to have been brought here, in which the examiners of the pension bureau were told that the action in granting that particular pension should not be regarded as a precedent in such cases. This, it is pointed out, was arbitrary upon the part of the commission-er, and unjust to other claimants of the Tolle class.

ANARCHISTS' DREAM

United Only on War Against All Government.

DIFFER IN MANY OF THEIR VIEW

Favor Peaceful, Violent Methods.

SOME OF THEIR AIMS

People who regard anarchists as forming for bringing about a condition of society shooting of President McKinley. Anarchists are a unit upon only one idea—that is, pression, as are laws and every means by which government is maintained.

They want the individual to possess the freedom of the savage. Living in the manner they advocate there would be no private property and no law. With them a contract would have only the force of the desire of each party to carry it out and if either of them should repudiate it it would fall to the ground.

It would take the temperament and the mind of a dreamer to conceive what the world would be like in such a condition of anarchy. The International Encyclopedia of the edition of 1898 states that of one school of anarchists in the United States. whose headquarters are in Boston, there are 5,000 members. These are of the variety that declare themselves in favor only of peaceful methods for bringing about a condition of anarchy.

best way to advance their common cause against all government is to kill the heads of governments. They do not aim at one form of government more than at another, but to them a republic, ruled by the suffrage of the people, is as vicious as is a espotism ruled by the will of one man. While the keynote to all anarchistic associations is such intense individualism that no man can be bound to anything he does not approve of, yet the men indulging in these vagaries are generally divided in two classes. The first of these are the followers of Proudhon, who are called individualistic anarchists, the second class being the followers of Marx, who are called the communistic anarchists or internationmake war on those who attend churches except to the extent of insisting that these churches shall be supported by voluntary contributions. They oppose any measure for the suppression of social vice through the means of legislation. They oppose the rite of marriage and in its place advocate what they term "automistic" marriage, which is a sort of partnership from which ither party can withdraw at any time.

The communistic anarchists, or followers of Marx, do not hesitate to commit any deed of violence in order to advance their cause. These anarchists gained their great-International Workingmen's Association about 1872, after which it very largely went to pieces. At that time Bakunine, who advocated an international revolutionary movement for all laboring classes to culminate in a general insurrection, was expelled from the organization. This branch of the anarchists directed its forts especially against private property. while the alleged peaceful followers of Proudhon assert that if state property and the force of the law is destroyed private

But it is Proudhon who is regarded as the founder of modern anarchism. His ideas were taken up by Russians and made the basis of a most vigorous political agita-tion which directed itself toward the killing of heads of government.

Next to Russia, Spain is the country in which anarchists have made most headway Portugal. Italy and France have always been involved in the movement. The infounded in 1864, and was a combination of anarchists and socialists. The socialists wanted greater equality through the means of state interference, while the anarchists wanted it by having the state abolished. The fact that these two sets of people, holding diametrically opposite views, should work together in carrying on an agitation shows much of the character of the socalled "organization." In the course of time this conglomeration of opposing opinions made trouble, for when Bakunine wanted to get up an international insur-rection to bring about a destruction of all government and abolition of all law the socialists expelled him from the organiza-tion, holding that equality could be brought about only through the means of co-opera-tive production which required a state to

FOR MOVING THE CROPS

The following announcement was mad today at the Treasury Department: "The Secretary of the Treasury hereby gives notice that he will receive and consider proposals for the sale to the government, on account of the sinking fund of the United States 3 per cent bonds, loan of 1908-1918; 4 per cent bonds, funded loan of 1907; 4 per cent bonds, loan of 1925, and 5 per cent bonds, loan of 1904, to an amount not exceeding $20,000,000. Proposals should be submitted to the Secretary by letter or telegraph not later than Thursday the 12th instant, any bonds accepted to be promptly delivered at the United States subtreasury in New York or to the right to reject any or all proposals is expressly reserved. "L. J. GAGE, Secretary." At the same time Secretary Gage sent the following telegram to F. D. Tappen, chairman of the Clearing House Association of New York city: "Recognizing the unfavorable influence upon general business affairs of a continued absorption into the public treasury of revenue beyond expenditure, I have directed that incoming internal revenue receipts be placed with national bank depositaries until a balance with each is reached equal to the par value of the bonds held as security from such depositaries. This will divert about $5,000,000 from the treasury vaults. "The Secretary will today invite propos als for the sale to the government of $20,-000,000 of United States bonds other than the new twos. It is believed that these steps will obviate the otherwise possible embarrassments which are pointed out in your telegram of yesterday.

Treasury Department at Washington. The

"L. J. GAGE, Secretary." Secretary Gage said to a Star reporter today that the active movement of crops has begun throughout the country, and that he did not desire that the treasury should absorb millions of dollars that might be in trade channels. The subtreasuries in the west and south have been calling heavily for currency to move the crops, and the mount sent so far is in excess of any year in the history of the treasury. The placing of additional money with the national bank depositaries will, as Secretary Gage indicates in his letter, divert $5,000,000 from treasury vaults ar put it into circulation. At the same time the purchase of $20,000,000 in bonds would be a decided relief. The only question now is whether the offers to the Secretary will be such as to induce him to purchase the amount he desires or any sum at all. The tendency in offers of this kind is to cause the prices of bonds to rise. Secretary Gage does not intend to pay above what the bonds are worth and will make no purchases if the offers indicate that the market prices are to be raised. The money will be kept in the treasury in preference

Last April Secretary Gage made an offer to purchase bonds to relieve the constantly increasing addition to the cash balance of the treasury, but he fixed prices at which the government would buy. These prices have governed the purchases of all bonds to this time. The price limit is now removed for the first time, and offers are asked for with the supposition that the prices will be such as will permit the Secretary to invest a number of millions of the treasury surplus in a short time. Since the offer of the Secretary last April

The purchases have been made slowly, sometimes a few thousands on one day and on other days reaching into the hundreds of thousands.

Dr. Larkin W. Glazebrook, deputy coroner of the District of Columbia, who for a number of years past has performed the majority of the autopsies at the local morgue, is of the opinion that the pistol ball that passed through the stomach of the distinguished patient at Buffalo seemed to seek the very course through the stomach that would give the victim a good fighting chance for life. Had it plowed through half an inch to one side or the other of the spot it entered, death, Dr. Glazebrook thinks, would necessarily have followed.

Dr. Glazebrook believes that the speedy recovery of the President is certain, and he pays a high 'tribute to the skill of the surgeons in attendance on the stricken executive.
